

Practise Better Judgement

A two-day residential experience for senior leaders designed not to add more pressure to perform certainty, but to give leaders enough space to see clearly again.

FORMAT

Residential Retreat · 2 Days

AUDIENCE

Senior Leaders / C-Suite

GROUP SIZE

12 – 20 Participants

THE CONTEXT

The leadership burden has shifted

Leaders today are expected to move faster, absorb uncertainty, adopt AI, prove responsibility and still keep people willing to follow. Many leadership programmes add more to carry. This one starts by acknowledging the weight.

- Speed without pause for honest thinking
- The pressure to perform certainty in public
- AI adoption before personal reckoning
- Accountability without a clear framework
- Reduced access to honest peer conversation

WHAT PARTICIPANTS LEAVE WITH

Six conditions

01 Recovered honest self-assessment

The ability to name what is actually uncertain, not just perform confidence.

02 Practised peer-level honesty

Experience of genuine conversation at the peer level which is rare at this seniority.

03 One specific honest intention

Arrived at through reflection, not prescribed by a programme.

04 Calibrated inquiry as a skill

Asking questions that open, rather than close, a situation.

05 A different relationship with uncertainty

More composed and more deliberate which is what better judgment looks like.

06 Reduced isolation

Awareness that the pressures they carry are not personal failures.

Programme Designer · Best Events Productions

For over 15 years, Hanniz Lam has navigated the real pressures of building teams, sustaining organisations, and making decisions that matter. She weaves in art, slow walks, and creative activities because she has seen, firsthand, how movement and making unlock the kind of thinking that no workshop slide ever could. Her work draws on humanistic and wisdom traditions blending Western and Asian thought, perspectives that add depth and surprise to leadership conversations.
